LET'S GET BAKED TOGETHER

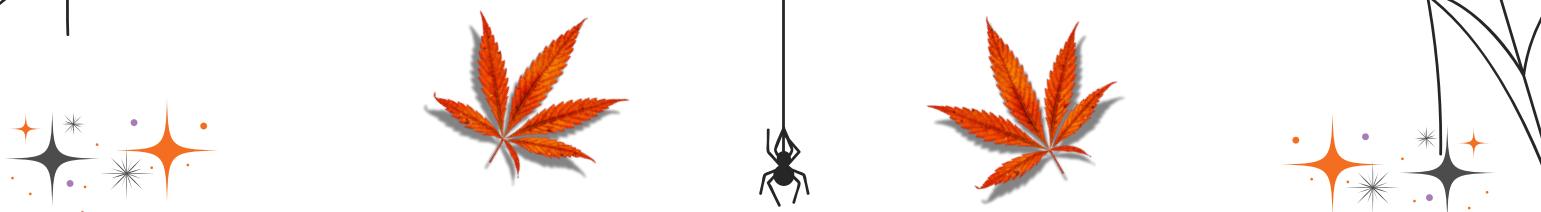

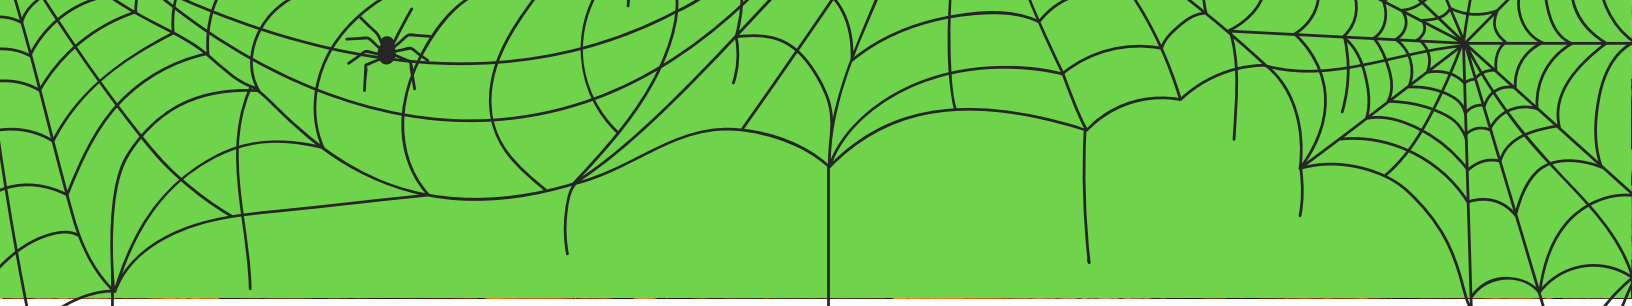

Fall is upon us and Halloween is near. The time for celebration and sweet treats. Cannabis Health offers several products that can be infused into your favorite recipe including: tinctures (Indica and Sativa), Rick Simpson Oil (RSO), Cannabutter, and flower so you can make your own in either a butter or oil. To make your own follow these easy steps: Choose a strain, decide on your oil base, grind your cannabis, mix together in your device (slow cooker), dissolve cannabis in oil, strain your mix, and store immediately. There are many concepts and products that can be used depending on preference and dietary needs. Making butter requires the following basic items: cheesecloth, parchment paper, and a slow cooker along with cooking oil/butter and may take a couple of hours. The rule of thumb is: 1 gram of 20% THC flower has 200mg of THC.

10 grams infused in 1 cup of butter would be 2,000mg of THC per cup of cannabutter. A recipe for chocolate chip cookies that uses 1 cup of butter will make approximately 60 cookies (2,000mg), equal to 33mg of THC per cookie. You may choose to purchase a machine specifically made for this task. When calculating dosage start low and go slow. Use regular oil or butter to mix with your infused version, and reduce the portion size. Please keep in mind that cooking above 365 degrees will degrade the cannabis and decrease potency. Leave the infusion for the end when mixing the ingredients if cooking vs. baking because sautéing the butter or oil will decrease the THC in the product, and make sure it is mixed thoroughly.
